

The Homer Fitts Co.

Incorporated
"The Store Where Quality Counts"

Many Women Have Come to Consider This Store as

The Christmas Waist Store

They know the splendid variety they may expect to find, and the touch of exclusiveness that distinguishes our Waists at every price. Our standards of quality in Holiday Waists have been splendidly maintained.

GEORGETTE CREPE AND CREPE DE CHINE WAISTS—White, Flesh and suit shades, sizes up to 51,
$2.98 up to $12.50

STRIPED AND PLAID SILK WAISTS—Beautiful colors in light and dark effects,
$2.98 up to $5.50

WHITE VOILE WAISTS—Handsome embroidered and lace trimmed models,
$1.25 up to $2.98

There is no Gift so Appealing to Women as Silk Petticoats

Here you will find Petticoats in such an array of colorings and qualities that they're sure to meet the approval of the majority of women.

Made of the best grade of Silks, with attention to every detail, and at prices extremely attractive to gift givers.

CHIFFON TAFFETA PETTICOATS—Some with jersey tops; new, changeable colors; ruffled or plaited, and finished with dust ruffles.

$3.98 to $5.98

SATEEN AND HEATHERBLOOM PETTICOATS—Black and colors, with fitted tops,

$1.50 to $2.98

"The Right Merchandise, at the Right Price, at the Right Time, means Genuine Economy."

Victory Economy Drive

will continue through the greater part of December, in order to reduce our double stock of Footwear.

Now is your time to take advantage of this unprecedented opportunity to PURCHASE YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOES, SLIPPERS, MOCCASINS, GAITERS, RUBBERS, OVERSHOES AND LEGGINS.

For partial list of bargains, see Wednesday's Times. The sooner you get to the store for your share, the better selection you will have to choose from.

BUY FOR CHRISTMAS NOW.

People's Shoe Store

187 North Main Street Barre, Vt.

In These Times of High Prices
Your Dollars Should be Made to Count

The holiday gifts we are offering are of the useful variety.

See us about HIS gift.

The Frank McWhorter Co.

BARRE DAILY TIMES

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1918.

The Weather

Partly cloudy to-night, colder in interior; Wednesday cloudy, probably local snows; moderate north to northwest winds.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Christmas toys at Abbott's. Charlie Chaplin, Bijou to-day.—adv. Mrs. Hale K. Darling of Chelsea was a Barre shopper yesterday.

Dorothy Phillips in "The Talk of the Town" extra special at Park to-day.—adv. J. J. Sullivan of Graniteville has returned from a few days' business visit in Burlington.

Regular meeting of Ruth chapter, No. 33, O. E. S., Wednesday evening, Dec. 11, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Bertha Twiss of Nashua, N. H., arrived in the city last evening for an extended visit with relatives.

Miss Arlene Jeffords will sing at the concert and sale Friday night, Presbyterian church. Hear her.—adv.

Miss Nina Cassellini has returned to her school in Waterbury Center, after visiting at home for a few days.

John Pietta, who has been visiting friends in Barre for a few days, returned last night to Waterbury.

Mrs. Amanda Swinyer, who was called here by the death of Mrs. Ida Davis of Richardson road, has returned to her home in Lisbon, N. H.

Shop and store windows in the business section have taken on a Christmas aspect and merchants report a fair volume of holiday trade.

Congregationalists, get your rummage ready for sale Saturday afternoon. Send it in Friday afternoon, or, if you wish it called for, telephone 48-R.—adv.

When an elderly pedestrian slipped on an icy North Main street crossing this forenoon, a motorist had to use the iron hand on his brakes to avoid a casualty.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carroll, who left Barre some weeks ago, after closing their home on Beacon street, are now located in Hartford, Conn., according to word received by friends.

Special Metro feature, "In Judgment Of," featuring Franklin Farnum and Anna Neilson; a Drew comedy and Charlie Chaplin in "His Million Dollar Job," Bijou to-day.—adv.

Wendell Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Beck of Branch street, who has been enrolled in the student army training corps at Middlebury college, has been honorably discharged from the service.

"A Modern Sewing Society," with local hits on church members, will be given by young ladies of the choir Friday night at Presbyterian sale. Plenty of entertainment besides fanwork and food.—adv.

The condition of Herbert Lapier, a bedsetter who was seriously injured in the polishing mill of Jones Bros. Co. last week, was reported to be somewhat improved to-day. He is a patient in the City hospital.

Raymond L. Arkley of the hospital corps of the U. S. navy, who has been passing a few days with his parents, left this noon for Springfield, Mass., where Mrs. Arkley has been staying since her husband enlisted.

J. J. Mitchell of Montpelier, who recently leased the north store in the Boyer-Durkee building, has recently completed improvements to the interior. A candy kitchen and ice cream store will be established there.

Officer John S. Murley of Summer street, who is enjoying a few days' leave from his duties at police headquarters, went to Jonesville yesterday with dog and gun to enjoy among friends while hunting.

The condition of Douglas Wood of Nichols street, who was removed to the City hospital last week, after having partially recovered from the effects of a leg fracture suffered early in November, is reported to be improving steadily.

South Barre garage fair will be held the evenings of Dec. 19 and 20. Fancy work, aprons, vegetable, food and popcorn will be on sale. Good programs have been arranged for both evenings. Let all go and make it the usual good time. Everybody invited.—adv.

Mrs. Hattie Dix and Mrs. Clara Clark left the city this forenoon for New York, whence they are to proceed to Deland, Fla., there to pass the winter. They were joined in Montpelier by Mrs. Laura C. Walker, who is to accompany them.

N. E. Beror, who has been training as an aviation mechanic in a Texas flying field, arrived in the city this morning while on his way home to Graniteville. With other flying men he was aboard a transport 300 miles out at sea when news of the armistice came to America. The transport commander was notified by wireless to turn back. Mr. Beror has been honorably discharged from the service.

Stanton Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Burgess of Washington street, who has been attending an aviation school in Memphis, Tenn., arrived home last evening, having received an honorable discharge from the service. After visiting his parents for a time, he expects to return to Boston to resume his studies in the Harvard Dental college.

Depot square granite manufacturers and others who own property in the district extending from the M. & W. R. freight yard to Granite street are breathing easier now that the city water department has fulfilled its promise by installing additional hydrants. Thus far only two hydrants have been placed in the area, but they will serve an excellent purpose as an auxiliary to the fire protection service hitherto afforded the manufacturers. One hydrant is located near Granite street and is easily accessible from a number of streets. The other is located near the heart of the Depot square district. Water mains have been enlarged in perfecting the new service, and those who are most intimately concerned with the extension project believe that the improvements will have a tendency to lower insurance rates in that vicinity.

That the committee in charge of the "every member" canvass conducted in behalf of the Barre Congregational church used its time advantageously Sunday afternoon was indicated last evening when the returns were received and tabulated at a meeting in the church vestry. Nearly every street in the city had to be visited in the course of the campaign and in reaching out to touch all families connected with the church some of the outlying districts were included in the canvass. Members of the committee say that enough money was received on the one hand to take care of the running expenses of the church during the coming year, while on the other hand there is plenty of assurance that the church's missionary apportionment will be met. Nevertheless, the opportunity for giving still exists, as the committee has not closed its books.

WASHINGTON

Large size house dresses, children's underwear, stockings, silk, lace, Christmas goods, etc. Millinery at reduced price. Mrs. F. A. Warner.

MONTPELIER

Miss Gertrude Cohen is employed in the office of Theriault & Hunt until Miss Margaret Lamport recovers her health. Miss Edna Royce, who has been assisting in the office, has been appointed cashier in the Red Cross drive.

Russell Collins left Monday evening for Burlington to attend the state grange meeting.

Milo Jeffrey, who has been attending a training school at Camp Taylor in Kentucky, has returned home.

Mrs. M. B. Hillegas is ill with influenza. She is having a light run of it.

Miss Mabel Davis has resumed her work in the secretary of state's office after a few days' illness. Miss French has also resumed her duties, while Miss Adelaide Teachout is recovering from influenza.

Michael Brozicevic of Barre has been appointed guardian of Martin, Auka and Arzua Brozicevic, minors, in the same city.

St. John of Northfield has been appointed executrix of the estate of Freeman St. John, late of Northfield.

Dr. C. H. Dalton of the state board of health has gone to Chicago to attend a meeting of the American Public Health association this week.

There has been some report, apparently without foundation, that Vermont's allotment of hard coal is to be increased, and so much of this sort of report was received at the fuel office that the department obtained information from Washington, which arrived this morning, stating that there will be no increase in Vermont's allotment of fuel and that 330,000 gross tons of hard coal is the allotment. Reports coming to the fuel office are that the fuel dealers have been telling there would be plenty of coal and that the allotment was to be increased, which is not true, according to the statement received this morning. The only way in which there will be plenty of coal is for another month of warm weather to occur. If that takes place the allotment will supply the demand. Coal must occur in every possible way, it is stated, if cold weather like last winter occurs.

A. Bernadini went to Burlington this morning to attend the funeral of a friend.

Grover D. Templeton, deputy sergeant-at-arms, is back on duty after a few days' rest at his home.

Word has been sent to the local boards that all registrants who are 18 and 19 years of age must complete their questionnaires and that these must be sent out if it had not been taken place before the armistice was signed. This means that the records were not sealed to-day, as the first instructions from the war department stated they would be, and now the local boards have been advised that a great deal more information is wanted and that all papers pertaining to each registrant will be placed together before the records are closed.

The case of Harvey Belville, the 15-year-old youth who was in juvenile court Monday on the charge of shooting a chicken, and doing other damage, about Berlin Corners, has been left with the court. Evidence was presented to show that the boy acted under instructions when he shot the chicken and that he was a good boy in school when he attended, which was not regularly. He admitted swimming once in Berlin pond.

Miss Lina Jerd, who suffered a broken leg as a result of a fall on the slippery streets Monday forenoon, is doing as well as can be expected. Miss Jerd is employed in the Pierce & Clark restaurant and was on her way to work when she fell.

The coming legislature is to have a dog bill, and probably several of them, if the patrol committee carry out their program of asking that legislation take place relative to sheep. It has been the experience of the general assembly in recent years that whenever a wool producing bill is presented there are several dog bills that follow it, so it is safe to guess that the coming legislature will not be materially different from those that have gone before it.

Appointments for State House positions during the session of the legislature may be made this week. Some positions which may be abolished are third assistant in the sergeant-at-arms office, one in the postoffice and one in the coat-room. The scale of wages is to be the same as two years ago.

Miss Louise Howland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Howland, left last evening for Saratoga, N. Y., where she will remain to recover her health. She went in a private sleeping car, accompanied by members of her family.

Henry Gutcheil, who is auditing the allied war workers' accounts in Vermont, left last evening for the northern part of the state.

Calvin Townsend, who lived in Montpelier many years, is visiting here. He left the city some 20 years ago and is now residing in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Graham's Duty.

Should Governor Graham have resigned when the disclosures came last August regarding his alleged defalcations while holding the office of state auditor? The prevalent opinion is that he should have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied, that he promised to resign at that time, but failed to perform his part. He has just been indicted and summoned for trial. The only possible justification for Governor Graham is that he finds it legally impossible to resign. Good lawyers, the prevalent opinion is, are those who have done so, in order to spare the state the shame of having its chief executive haled to court to answer a criminal charge. It is reported, and has never been denied,